WHITE CLOUD, KARBAS: Thursday, : : November 17, 1870.

DIDN'T QUAKE - A few days before the election, the Topeks Independent contained an article, evidently from the pen of Chief Justice Barr, telling how a political earthquake, or whirlwind, or something of the kind, swept over New York, in 1838, when the outraged people saddealy arose and overthres the Democratic party, which had long controlled the been selected to represent the race. The State, and which reposed in conscious York, and a companion of those housest plug uglies who go through a man and divide such of his property as he carries in his pocket-hock. In this County, the entire Republican ticket is elected, including the two Sens tors, five Representatives, and County fficers. There was considerable opposi tion to Gorden for Probate Judge, Holt for County attorney, and Brown for Su perintendent of Public Instruction; but they all came out with handsome maj irnies.
